Badoglio's proclamation of 8 September 1943 is the announcement of the entry into force of the armistice of Cassibile signed by the Badoglio government with the Allied forces of the Second World War. Many Italians thought that the war was over, instead one of the darkest pages in the history of our country began.

From Fiume to Laives, 8 september 1943, letter 1st port. Rate: L. 0,50.

On 12 September 1943 a German commando freed Mussolini from prison in a hotel on the Gran Sasso and took him to Berlin to Hitler. On 15 September the radio announced that "Benito Mussolini has today resumed the supreme leadership of fascism in Italy", while orders were given to all party organizations to actively support the German army. Three days later, in a radio address from Munich, Mussolini announced his desire to create a republican fascist state in the part of Italy occupied by the Germans. The Italian Social Republic, with its capital in Salò, on Lake Garda, was officially born on 23 September 1943.

The RSI will end thanks to the partisan insurrections, and the arrival of the allied troops, with the occupation of Milan and Turin, released after Bologna and before Genoa and Venice. The symbolic date is 25 April.

Documents that have an expert opinion are marked at the end of the caption with (e) for expertise. The collection plan with bibliography follows.
