About this Catalogue

Dear stamp enthusiast,

Welcome to our 2026 product catalogue. The products for sale in this catalogue consist of value-added philatelic products, and mint and cancelled stamp sheets and miniature sheets that are in stock and available for sale, but in limited quantities.

This catalogue is fully interactive, meaning that when you view it in Adobe Acrobat Reader, you'll be able to open the bookmarks pane where you can click on any section or product to directly go to the page on which it is displayed. You can also click on the title of the envelope in the table of contents to directly go to its page.

The table of contents also serve as the order form, and it will automatically populate with your orders as you page through and enter the quantities for the products you're interested in. The fields where you can enter order quantities appears in the bottom left hand corner where each product is displayed.

This means that you have to save the PDF on your computer's hard drive, so that you can save your order quantities, and once completed, email your order to Philatelic Services for processing.

Upon returning to the table of contents/order form page, you'll be able to see the total cost of everything you have ordered, already calculated at the end of the order form. You can make changes to your order, as needed.

Bridging The Digital Divide

Miniature Sheet (5 stamps)

Issue date: 18 January 2010

Imagine a world without television, computers, the Internet and cellphones. Today, many people take these modern methods of communication for granted, but there are millions worldwide who have no access to digital technology.

The gap between people with effective access to digital and information technology and those with very limited or no access at all, is referred to as the digital divide. Communication is the main aspect affected by the digital divide.

Constitution Hill Series: History Of The Hill

Stamp Sheet (10 stamps)

Issue date: 28 May 2010

Constitution Hill, situated in Johannesburg, is a well-known South African historical and cultural landmark. Previously the location of the infamous Old Fort Prison Complex or Number Four, it is now home to South Africa's Constitutional Court.

Constitution Hill has been witness to much of South Africa's history, ranging from wars between British soldiers and the Boers, to the incarceration of both famous and notorious prisoners, the Soweto Youth Uprising and the introduction of democracy in the country.

150 Years: Indian Indentured Labourers in South Africa Part 1

Miniature Sheet (2 stamps)

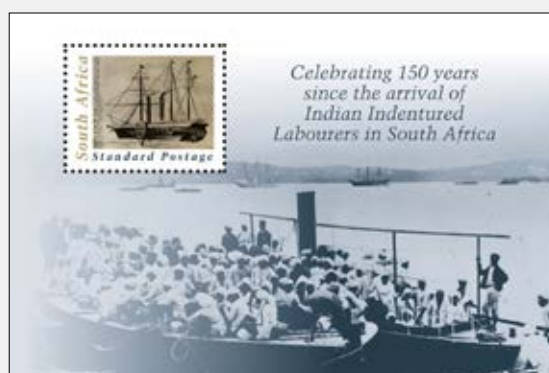

Issue date: 21 October 2011

On 16 November 1860, the S.S. Truro, a wood-paddle steamer, sailed into Durban Bay, Natal, with 342 Indian people on board.

They boarded the ship in Madras (now known as Chennai), the capital city of the Indian state of Tamil Nadu on the Bay of Bengal. They were leaving their living conditions of abject poverty in search of a better life as farm labourers in the sugar plantations of Natal.

Souvenir Folder

Issue date: 21 October 2011

The Indian community in South Africa has grown from humble beginnings in 1860 to be the largest outside of India itself.

The opportunity to seek a better life had come as a result of the Natal colonial government's Act No 14 of 1859 which, in response to the rapidly-growing labour demands of Natal's booming sugar industry.

Alexandra 100th Anniversary

Souvenir Folder

Issue date: 26 October 2012

2012 marked the 100th anniversary of the founding of Alexandra Township in Johannesburg. It is one of the oldest formal black settlements in South Africa and has a rich and proud heritage.

In 1912, Alexandra was proclaimed a 'native township'. Since then, the township has played a major and meaningful role in South Africa's struggle for liberation. Situated on the banks of the Jukskei River, it covers an area of more than eight square kilometres and has an estimated population of 470 000 people.

Transit Of Venus

Miniature Sheet

Issue date: 5 June 2012

On 5 and 6 June 2012, Venus passed directly in front of the sun in what was known as the Transit of Venus. This was the second and last solar transit of the planet Venus for that century. There had been one transit on 8 June 2004, and following the 2012 transit, the next pair was predicted to occur in 2117 and 2125.

A Transit of Venus across the sun is a rare once-in-a-lifetime event; it occurs when the orbit of Venus takes it directly between the earth and the sun, obscuring a small portion of the sun's disc.

Reverend John Dube

Miniature Sheet

Issue date: 22 February 2012

Described as a scholar, gentleman, leader, farmer, teacher, politician, patriot and philanthropist, Rev John Dube was the first President General of the ANC.

He was also actively involved in the Bhambatha Rebellion regarded by many as the beginning of the struggle against apartheid.

It culminated 88 years later almost to the day with the first democratic elections in South Africa on 27 April 1994.

Reverend John Dube

Souvenir Folder

Issue date: 22 February 2012

The Reverend John Dube's democratic nature, as well as his statesmanship was evident in his belief that despite the oppression of the African people, blacks and whites would eventually be able to live together under a democratic order.

He fought all his life for the unity and liberation of the Africans - a unity and liberation he saw as coming through education, through working with sympathetic whites, through adoption of Christian values and, more importantly, through political organisation under the umbrella of the ANC.

360 Years Since the Arrival of the Dutch at the Cape, Portraying Krotoa

Souvenir Folder SF8.2

Issue date: 6 September 2012

On 6 April 1652, Jan van Riebeeck, a commander in the Dutch East India Company (VOC) sailed into Table Bay with his fleet of two ships, the Drommedaris and the Reijger and the yacht Goede Hoop. Van Riebeeck was sent to the Cape from Amsterdam to establish a halfway station that could supply passing ships with fresh food and wine.

A young Khoikhoi girl named Krotoa, also known as Eva to the Dutch, who worked in the Van Riebeeck household, became an important figure in South Africa's history.

300 Years: Historic Link Between South Africa and Indonesia

Stamp Sheet (10 stamps)

Issue date: 15 October 2011

South Africa and Indonesia established formal diplomatic relations in August 1994, but their historical connection dates back nearly three centuries.

European colonisation in the 15th to 19th centuries resulted in the enslavement and migration of millions of Afro-Asians.

The Dutch at the Cape imported skilled artisans from the East Indies as slaves, including silversmiths, masons, milliners, cobblers, singers, and tailors, who became known as Cape Malay.

The Big Five

Booklet

Issue date: 26 November 2018

The Big 5 is the collective name by which the Lion, Elephant, Rhino, Leopard and Buffalo are known. The Big 5 were referred to as such by large game hunters of earlier centuries, as they were the most difficult and dangerous to hunt.

Ross Cooper's extraordinarily beautiful photographs capture the majestic essence of Africa's Big Five. His stunning imagery showcases the power, grace, and grandeur of these iconic animals, making one feel as if each animal is walking towards you as you feast your eyes from one stamp to the next.

Issue date: 26 November 2018

Ross Cooper's stunning photography makes this Big Five postcard set a must-have for everyone. Available individually, you can choose your favorite animals and buy extras as gifts or for yourself.

The largest African feline and carnivore is the lion. Contrary to folklore, lions are found in open plains with water and grazing, or in semi-desert areas like the Kalahari – not jungles! African lions are the most social big cats, living in prides of around 15. They hunt large prey and breed year-round.

Africa is home to two rhinoceros species: the white rhinoceros (Ceratotherium simum) and the black rhinoceros (Diceros bicornis).

Despite its name, the white rhino isn't white but grey like the black rhino. The name likely comes from the Dutch word "wijd," meaning "wide," referring to its broad mouth, unlike the black rhino's hooked lip. Rhinos have poor eyesight, their greatest weakness, but this is balanced by excellent hearing and a keen sense of smell.

Stars and Constellations of the Southern Skies

Stamp Sheet (10 stamps)

Issue date: 15 January 2020

Stamp Sheet (10 stamps)

Since time immemorial, humankind has been gazing up at the skies in wonder. The beliefs of SA's peoples are celebrated on a limited edition of stamps and envelopes featuring the stars and constellations of the southern hemisphere.

The stamps depict ancient beliefs, but they will appeal even to the youngest people in the 21st century. Printed with glow-in-the-dark ink, the stamps shine like proper stars.

South African Woodpeckers

Mint and Cancelled

Issue date: 2020

Woodpeckers are often seen as spiritual symbols, but this set of stamps highlights their visible, fascinating characteristics.

Belonging to the Picidae family, several species occur locally, with five featured in this series of bird stamps that began in 2009. These remarkable birds drill precise nests in the bark of trees, aided by continuously growing beaks and specialized anatomical adaptations.

This stamp sheet features the exquisitely beautiful artwork of Tobie Beele.

Joint Issue with India

Miniature sheet

Issue date:

26 July 2018

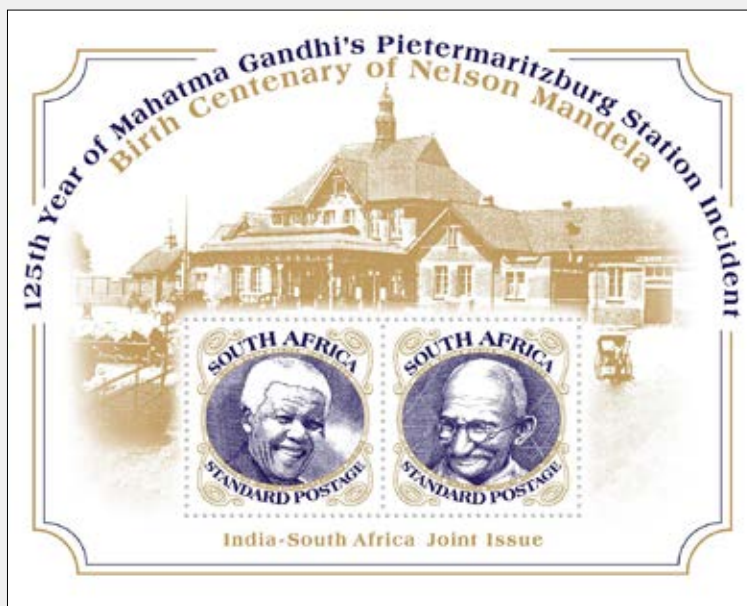

The miniature sheet uses an etched 19th-century style reflecting the eras of Mahatma Gandhi and Nelson Mandela.

It marks strong India–South Africa ties, restored in 1993, with growing cooperation and trade.

It commemorates Gandhi's 1893 Pietermaritzburg incident, which inspired his nonviolent resistance, and Mandela's centenary, honouring his leadership, 27-year imprisonment, role in ending apartheid, presidency, and lasting legacy of peace, equality, and international partnership.

Industrial & Commercial Workers Union (ICU)

Miniature Sheet

Issue date:

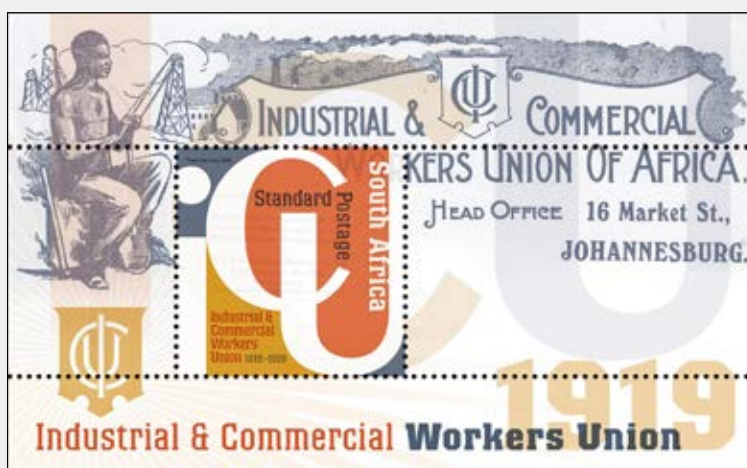

30 April 2019

South Africa's history is deeply tied to trade unions, especially the ICU, a labour and political movement that began among Cape Town dockworkers and spread widely.

Founded by Malawian-born Clements Kadalie, it grew to over 100,000 members by the 1920s across southern Africa.

Despite its influence, government repression and rival groups led to its decline by 1931, though it demonstrated the power of worker unity.

Industrial and Commercial Workers Union Centenary

Miniature Sheet

Issue date: 30 April 2019

South Africa's history is deeply tied to the role of trade unions, beginning with the ICU. It operated as both a union and political movement, as labour and politics were closely linked. Initially active among Cape Town dock workers, it led successful strikes and soon spread to rural agricultural workers. The ICU later merged with the Industrial Workers of Africa and Coloured unions. By 1920, it was the largest black union in southern Africa, with branches in Zambia, Zimbabwe, and Namibia.

Famous South African Diamonds

Stamp Sheet (10 stamps)

Issue date: 19 June 2019

Rough diamonds can resemble ordinary pebbles, which may explain why South Africa's first major diamond discovery only occurred in 1867 near Hopetown.

In 1866, 15-year-old Erasmus Jacobs found the Eureka diamond on his father's farm.

The diamonds gracing our stamps are: The Eureka (1866), The Star of South Africa (1869), The De Beers (1888), The Excelsior (1893), The Jubilee (1895), The Cullinan (1905), The Golden Jubilee (1985), The Centenary (1986), The Heart of Eternity (2000), The Blue Moon of Josephine (2014), The Millennium Star, and The Premier Rose.

Famous South African Diamonds

Stamp Sheet (10 stamps)

Issue date: 19 June 2019

The rhyme Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star by Jane and Anne Taylor may be many children's first hint of diamonds. As they grow, they learn – like Nicky Oppenheimer said – that diamonds are intrinsically worthless, yet deeply desired, or, as Leo Robin wrote, "a girl's best friend."

South African diamonds, once hidden beneath the earth and now symbols of wealth, envy, and beauty, can be admired by all through stamps bringing these precious stones into the hands of collectors and the public alike.

Poets of Word and Sound

Stamp Sheet (3 stamps)

Issue date:

31 January 2020

Postage stamps, often called a country's smallest ambassadors, honour three South African icons: Keorapetse Kgositsile, Hugh Masekela, and Philip Tabane.

Kgositsile, the first National Poet Laureate, showed the power of words.

Masekela became a globally celebrated jazz musician and activist.

Tabane pioneered the Malombo music style.

Though they began as hobbyists, their words and music left a lasting impact across South Africa and the world.

SANNC Delegation to London 100

Stamp Sheet (10 stamps)

Issue date: 27 November 2019

The South African Native National Congress (SANNC), founded on 8 January 1912, was the forerunner to the ANC. Formed by African intellectuals, church, business, and tribal leaders, it emerged amid growing Afrikaner nationalism and British political withdrawal.

This led to declining rights for the Black majority, worsened by the 1913 Land Act.

In 1914, the SANNC sent a delegation to Britain to oppose the Act, but it failed, as Britain prioritised European tensions and respected the Union's autonomy.

Centenary of the South African Air Force

Stamp Sheet (10 stamps)

Issue date: 10 September 2020

When the Union of South Africa was formed in 1910 as a self-governing dominion of the British Empire, plans began for an independent South African Air Force (SAAF). It was officially established on 1 February 1920, with Col Sir Pierre van Ryneveld as Director of Air Services. Great Britain donated over 100 aircraft.

Zwartkop Air Station, the first formal military airfield in sub-Saharan Africa, opened in 1921. The SAAF's growth boosted aviation, pilot training, and the start of airmail and trans-Africa services in the 1920s.

The SAAF had to drastically scale down after the war. The SAAF contingent was the fourth largest to participate in the 1948/1949 Berlin Airlift and in 1950 no. 2 Squadron was sent to Korea to serve with the United Nations forces.
